Q1-A: Read the text and answer the following questions:

El-Araby Houfeya is a Special Olympics athlete from Morocco. When he was very young, he was told that he had an intellectual disability. He accepted that he would never achieve the same success as his six siblings. He learnt how to read and write, and spent a lot of time playing football with other boys in the neighborhood. Then, one day in 1992 CE, he took part in a football competition. Although he hadn't had any formal training, he impressed spectators with his skill. After the game, Princess Lalla Amina of Morocco, who supported Special Olympics in her country, asked to meet this talented boy. She told him about Special Olympics Morocco. El-Araby Houfeya joined the organisation and began to take part in their events. It was a moment that changed his life. El-Araby Houfeya did horse-riding and played football in Special Olympics competitions, and, through the organisation, began to travel to different countries. His confidence in himself grew, and he realised that perhaps his sporting talent wasn't the only talent he had. He began to look for employment, and eventually took a job with a security company. This helped him to become more financially independent. Today El-Araby Houfeya is a successful married man and a proud father. He has been promoted in his job, but he says he will always support Special Olympics.

This unstoppable team is Valegro and his rider Charlotte Dujardin. They are now world champions in dressage, and they haven't been beaten for three years. She rose to fame at the Olympics, where she won Great Britain's first-ever gold medal for dressage. This showed everyone that she was a skilled horsewoman, and she has only got better since then. However, Charlotte, who is Valegro's trainer as well as his rider, comes from a humble background.

She was born in a town north of London that is called Enfield, and her love for horses and riding began at the early age of two years old! Charlotte's mother was fond of horses and so she understood Charlotte's love for the animals and her hobby. Both Charlotte's parents worked extremely hard to make enough money to fund Charlotte's passion.

Charlotte grew up with horses, taking lessons at the local riding school and spending as much of her free time as she could helping out to care for the horses she rode.

Since she was 16 years old, Charlotte has been working at the stables of a famous horseman, Carl Hester. Carl asked her to work for him, as a groom, after she won a competition. Hester asked Charlotte to train Valegro, and they made an excellent team from the beginning. Their partnership has been developing ever since.
